Ask RealNetworks Inc. if streaming audio and video should be part and parcel of an operating system.

RealNetworks is a *classic* example of Microsoft's predatory practices. If you can live with this, you need look into no other examples.

As a citizen, I don't want anti-competitive policies to cause Microsoft to be non-profitable, I want these policies to have the constructive effect of causing Microsoft to focus on the quality of its existing products, the reliability of which is becoming more critical to this nation every minute.
